THE LABORERS' GALA DAY.

A Universal Celebration Throughout All Parts of the Country.

THOUSANDS OF WORKMEN PARADE.

Demonstration of the Dominion of Canada. How the Day Was Observed in the South D tails of the Day.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 7.-Labor Day dawned clear and pleasant. The street parade of the various labor unions began at 9 o'clock this morning, headed by police and bands of music. The procession traversed the principal streets and halted at the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton depot, where trains were waiting to carry them to Woodsdale Island Park. Fully fifteen thousand men were in line. Major McKinley, the Republican candidate for Governor, and Mayor Mosby occupied one of the enrriages. John Seitz, the People's party candidate for Governor, Congressman Caldwell, ex-Congressman Cuthwaite, and other notables were also in the procession. The day, in the afternoon, was celebrated at the park in speech-making and athletic sports,

New York, Sept. 7.—Labor Day was generally observed here. The workingmen celebrated the occasion by two parades. They were made respectively by the Central Labor Union and Central Labor Federation. The Central Labor Union's parade formed promptly at 9 celock in Washington Square, out it was 10 o'clock before it got under way. At that hour, led by Grand Marshal Michael J. Fenton and his sids all mounted and presceeded by a vigor us brass band the procession was led around the right of Washington Square to Fourth street, to Macdougal street, to Waverly Place, to Sixth avenue to Greento Waverly Place, to Sixth avenue to Greenwich avenue, to Seventh, to Thirteenth, to Fourteenth street, to Fourth-avenue Place, to Fourteenth street, to Fourth avenue, to Seventeenth street, to Fifth avenue, and to Fortieth street, where it dispersed. The parade was drawn up in military order and the workmen marched like veterans.
The Central Labor Federation's parade was formed in Fourth street west of the Bovery
It was led by Grand Marshal August Waldings to Third avenue, to Stuyvesant Place and lings to Third avenue, to Stuy vesant Piace and econd avenue, to Fifteenth street, to Avenue Second avenue, to Fritteenth street, to Avenue A to Clinton street, to Evengton street, to Norfolk street, to First street, to Avenue A to Tenth street, to Third avenue, and from there to Ninth street, where it disbanded at ter being reviewed by the grand marshal. Appropriate mottoes were carried in both parales. The afternoon and evening were devoted to pleasure. A number of picnics and athletic contests were held.

athletic contests were held.

BUTTALO N. Y.—Labor Day was celebrated here to-day on a scale of unusual magnitude. Special prominence was given the character of the celebration by the presence, as an honored guest of the city and its tollers, of Governor Hill. The Governor arrived about a coclock this norming, and was escorted by the cityens committee to the cityens. breakins committee to the fromois hotel, breakinst was served. After breakinst overnor received his personal friends 0 o'clock. Atthat hour his excellency a seat upon the balcony of the public reception at the city hall, was given a rousing welcome by the immens-throng there assembled. On being introduce-sovernor hill speke in part as rollows: "I becured, setting apart a day which workingmen might observe as pseudiarly their own."

"The subject of the reduction of hears of labor," said the Governor, "is one entitled to respectful and serious consideration. It is a question which can't well be ignored, and in some of its phases it is always before us, it is evident that it is a question which can't be effectually disposed of until it has been wisely solved and its solution prevents one of the important problems of the hear. There is an irrepressible confinct in progress between the forces demanding the greatest exactions from labor and those insisting upon the least,

Recreation of course is not the "chief end of man," and while the desirability of some re-laxation from continuous daily teil should not be exaggrerated, and waile idleness should be be exaggerated, and wale idleness should be deplored, yet on the other hand, the fact must be recognized that the necessity for the ardous toil which characterized former days does not now exist. We need not work as many hours or as hard as our fathers worked before us. Conditions are rapidly changing everywhere. Improved machiners, new appliances and inventions of every kind operate largely to diminish the amount of manual labor here before respitted in many pursuits. We have a right to avail ouncives of all the modern improvements to relieve us from unnecessary drudgery. The dignity of labor can best be preserved by insisting that labor shall be better compensated. Increased compensation will make more comfortable homes, more compensated. Increased compensation will make more comfortable homes, more contented families and better opportunities for recreation as well as to tend to develop nobler aims and jurposes on the part of the working men greater interest in the peace and prosperity of the State and higher ideas of estizenship. Poverty is one great source of discontent. Overwork poorly recompensed discontent. Overwork poorly recompensed another. I have no new views to suggest the much debated question as to what number of hours out of the twenty-four should properly constitute a day's work for the ordinary mechanic or laborer. Eight hours of labor four in the forenoon and the content of the content four in the afternoon, followed up all the year around Sundays and hondays excepted. of course, ought to be sufficient to enable any workingman to live and are all that he ught to be required to perform.

Green arrived in Cincinnati on Sunday morning and registered at the Gibson House. He was assigned to aroom, and when the dinner hour arrived he entered the diningroom and took his meal. In the evening he went to supper, but was told that he would have to take his meal in the ordinary. Green objected and reported at the office, Manager Dunbar was called in, and the case was laid before him. He said he wished to locate the man as a centleman, but he could positively before him. He said he wished to locate the man as a gentleman, but he could positively not eat in the public dining-room. Green thereupon paid his bill and went to the Burnet House and secured ledgings. The insult soon became noised about, and the labor committee were indignant and reported the matter to a number of Republicans. The rooms secured for Major Mickinley at the Gibson were at once cancelled and quarters were secured at the Burnet House, where Major McKinley was escorted on his arrival in What Workingmen Want.

1By Cable to the Times.1 London, Sept. 7.—The meeting of miners at Newcastle will probably witness a sharp con-flict on the subject of socialism. John Burns, the socialist leader, has lately been advanc-ing his doctrines with more energy than ever, and his doctrines with more energy than ever, evidently in sympathy with the continental plan to identify socialism with the labor cause. The miners are divided on the question, and the conservatives among them will present a bitter opposition to the Burns idea. A feature of the gathering is a large increase in the number of women delegates, reminding the public that female labor still plays an important part in the British coalmining industry.

He Says a New Government Has Been Formed in Chili and That He is in Accord With It-Capital Notes.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 7 .- Postmaster-

General Wanamaker was very indignant today when he learned that during his absence on vacation an ill-informed clerk in one of the bureaus of the Postoflice Department had given out false information to the press that the free delivery experiments are not a success. He caused an examination of the latest report from these experiments to be made and found that they were succeeding beyond his most sanguine expectations, and in a way utterly to confound the critics of the experiment. It is already an established fact that the increased revenue from offices where the, free delivery experiment is on trial almost pays for the increased expenditure, and it is hoped by judicious management that on the average the experiment will entirely pay for itself as some of the offices more than do that now. Mr. Wenemaker, has it in wind to present to Wanamaker has it in mind to present to the next Congress a scheme by which, when the next Congress a scheme by which, when a given sum is asked for free delivery in a given community, the sum being calculated on the area to be served, the population and other such items, it is almost a mathematical certainty that the sum, almost, if not quite as large, would be added to the net earnings of the office in question. Even if the free delivery does not quite pay for itself, it is likely that the Postmaster-General will ask Congress to consider the question whether the rural districts of the country may not properly expect this slight contribution to their postal facilities, when in so many quarters postal facilities, when in so many quarters they have up to the present been considered

DOWN WITH JOHN CHINAMAN.

The most remarkable among the banners carried in the parade were those carried by the laundrymen. They were in the form of transparencies. Among them were the following: "Chinese highbinders live by smuggling and defy our laws." "Americans, don't patronize Chinese labor." Another banner had an illustration of a sickly-looking Chinaman in the act of ironing a shirt with the inscription, "Avoid leprosy." Still another bore the inscription, "Chinese are vampires sucking the blood of the people." It is roughly estimated that there were twenty-five thousand paraders in line. Both processions were viewed by large crowds, and the participants were frequently applauded. Everything passed off quietly.

Four New Cases-No Additional Deaths-Criminal Plumbing at Mr. West's.

diphtheria reported to the Board of Health since Saturday, and although there is perhaps a small increase in the number of new cases, they are of a less malignant type, and, in fact the attending physicians say that some of them are not diphtheria but milder diseases, which they feel compelled to report as such in order to escape responsibility under the strict health laws should they develop into such.

Up to a late hour yesterday evening four cases had been reported for the day, making as near as could be told nineteen cases in the city. There are no cases east of Second street, and at least two-thirds of them are west of Foushee. The four cases reported yesterday were located as follows: One No. 106 east Cary, one at 304 south Cherry, one at 111 west Main street and one at 533 north Second street.

As is shown in the mortuary report else-where there were thirteen deaths from this disease during last week, nearly all of whom were in Clay ward west of Foushee street.

The statement made by Dr. Oppenhimerto Tux Times reporter on the occasion of an inspection of the infected district that every spection of the infected district that every case with one or two exceptions was directly attributable to defective sanitary arrangements is still further proven in the case of Mr. Charles H. West's house, 716 west Grace street, where he lost four children one after the other in five days. Mr. West's house was one of the exceptions referred to at the time, and the inspection of these premises lies yesterday exhibited not only sufficient cause for the disease, but a state of wretched numbing that was pronounced as wretched plumbing that was pronounced as nothing short of criminal by the Board of Health. The waste pipe from the bath tub Health. The waste pipe from the bath tub in this house was so connected without trap arrangements that the sewer gas escaped directly from the pipes into the bathroom. An examination showed that a former connection above the trap had been discarded and the pipe placed below, where death - dealing guess would have full play. The same state of affairs exists in two other houses adjoining, which belong to the same owner, and the case is deemed to be so inimical to the health of that locality that Dr. Oppenhimer, president of the Board of Oppenhimer, president of the Board of Realth, has instructed the tenants to move at once until the dangerous system of plumbing can be corrected. Orders have also been given or the present system to be immediately replaced by proper arrangements.

The necessity of an inspector of plumbing was shown to be so important that yesterday br. Oppenhimer employed Mr. J. N. In company with Health-Officer James, Mr. Adams vesterday afternoon made an inspection around Penitentiary bottom and made a number of suggestions for the improvement of the sanitary defects.

The Board of Health is using every exertion to purify the city and put the infected district in good sanitary condition. Eight additional carts have been put on hauling gas lime for disinfecting purposes, making fourteen carts now employed in this work. In addition any citizen who applies is given an order on the gas house for a load of lime free of charge, and many have taken advantage of the privilege, thus adding largely to the quantity used.

The record given in The Transform day to

The report given in The Times from day to day is an accurate statement of the existing condition of the health of the city. The Board of Health, while deprecating what it considers undue publicity to the matter, is entirely frank with the press. The books are always open to inspection, and Mr. Arthur Mayo, the accommodating clerk of the Board, takes especial pains when called on to give the minutest information concerning the reports of the disease made to that department. No suppression has been thought of or attempted, and the state of the disease is not as bad as it appears on its face for reasons above The report given in THE TIMES from day to bad as it appears on its face for reasons above

A LOAN FROM THE DIRECTORS ACCEPTED.

A Committee of Awards, the Director-General and a Secretary Provided for by the Committee.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 .- The National Commis sion of the World's Fair began business today by accepting the report of their committee on awards and referring it to the committee on judiciary to make a by-law in accordance with the report. It provides for a committee of awards of twelve commissioners, the director-general, member ex-officio, and a secretary, at a salary of not more than $5,000

The managers presented a petition praying for two days longer time in which to finish important business. The request was unanimously granted. On motion of Commissioner Lowndes of Baltimore it was decided to adjeurn at 1 o'clock.

At the afternoon session the judiciary

At the afternoon session the judiciary committee made its report on the special report offered Friday by the auditing committee. The report stated that the $69,000 appriated was insufficient to support the commission at the present rate of expenditures. The expenses could be reduced to $79,000 thereby leaving a deficit of $20,000, and the advisability of affecting a loan for that amount. The directors came forward and offered a loan of $20,000, which the committee deemed wise to accept. The report objected to the recommendations of the auditing committee, which if followed, would have out off the salary of Vice-Chairman McKenzie. After a heated and lengthy discussion the report was finally adopted with the understanding that if Congress should fail to make another appropriation the $20,000 loan from the local board would be given to the national commission as a gift. The action of the local board in loaning the national commission to meet again in April. The names of the twelve commissioners, who will constitute the great national committee on awards, will be given out to-morrow evening. be given out to-morrow evening.

FIRE ON A STEAMER.

Twenty-five Bales of Cotton Destroyed-A Notorious Negro Arrested.

NORFOLK, VA., Sept. 7 .- [Special.]-Last night about 8 o'clock flames were seen issuing from twenty-five bales of cotton stored ing from twenty-five bales of cotton stored upon the steamer Hamilton, of the Baltimore Steam Packet Line, lying at the wharf at the foot of Main street. The fire department was promptly upon hand, and with the assistance of the tug Enterprise the flames were soon extinguished and the cotton thrown overboard. The joiners' work of the vessel was considerably damaged. The steamer would have left for Baltimore in ten minutes, and if she had reached the channel she would have been burnt to the water's edge.

Sunday night about 10 o'clock cries of help and murder from Hardy's lane were heard by Detective James, who quickly went to the rescue. He saw a negro beating a woman, supposed to be his wife. An arrest was attempted, and the officer was knocked senseless and quite seriously injured. At a later has and quite seriously injured. less and quite seriously injured. At a later hour Gus Thomas was arrested, charged with the offense. He is a notoriously tough char-

> Want to Be Russian Settlers. (By Cable to The Times.)

LONDON, Sept. 7 .- The Russian Minister of LONDON, Sept. 7.—The Russian Minister of the Interior is being overwhelmed with the applications by foreigners who desire to be-come Russian settlers. The applicants live for the most part in the western border prov-inces and are Germans. It is estimated that fully 30,000 have been naturalized during the year. The motive is an apprehension that the Government is about to take harsh measthe Government is about to take harsh measures against foreigners resident in Russia, by depriving them of the right to hold real estate and of other privileges which they have found profitable. Much of the business of Western Russian and Poland is carried on by Germans, whose expulsion, would bring misery not only to themselves, but on vast numbers of native employselves, but on vast numbers of native employes. Nevertheless, there is reason for the statement that a decree may shortly be looked for taking business and laud out of the hands of foreigners and compelling them to give up their property in Russia as the Jews have done for anything, that is offered. A St. Petersburg correspondent says that the Czar is resolved to have no one within Russian boundaries who is not a subject of Russia.

Serious Disaster in East Africa.

London, Sept. 7.—A serious disaster is reported to the German expedition in East Airica, where the Arab slave traders have been carrying on a savage fight with the Germans, the latter commanded by Emin Pashs, supported by Lieutenants Stuhlman and Langheid. At the latest previous accounts Emin was on his way to Lake Tanganyika, en route for Ujiji and the slave traders were attacking him and his forces at every opportunity. The vali of Karagwe tried twice to send goods after the Germans, but the bearers had to return, some of them wounded. Now comes a dispatch from Zanzibar stating that in a skirmish at Lake Tanganyik; the natives, probably slave traders, have killed Lieutenant Stuhlman in a skirmish. Furiher particulars as to the safety of the German force are anxiously awaited. (By Cable to The Times.) Mr. George W. Eaves, formerly of Richmond, now general foreman of the Richmond and Danville shops at Atlanta, is on a visit to London, Sept. 7.—Prices of Americans closed to-day at their highest. There was some continental buying. Dealers here who were out of stocks, in view of the calls next Monday and the end of the mouth, took the opportunity of the holiday in America to buy largely. The support of the market now depends almost exclusively on your side, London houses being provided with stocks. Heavy losses must be faced at the next settlement and possibly bear failures. Consols closed firm, with easy money. The imports of grain last month were small, especially from Russia. The decline of exports of tin-plate to America was heavy.

(By Cable to The Times.)

London, Sept. 7.—To-day's rumors in regard to Russia, Turkey and the Dardanelles are all the effect that some action may be looked for on the part of England, and Lord Salisbury will invite the powers to a conference on the subject. The British foreign office has given forth no semi-official intimation, but everybody seems to be sure that something of the kind is going to be done.
